DALY CITY DEPRIVED OF CONSTABLE'S OFFICE

OFFICIAL ASSERTS MOVE MADE TO AID SAN FRANCISCO

Sheriff Replies It Means Better Service
(Editor's Note: See editorial "Helping Hand To The Wastelands.")

After some 20 years in Daly City, the offices of the north county constable have been transferred to Mills Field, it was learned today.

The constable's offices at 7377 Mission street were moved by order of Sheriff Earl Whitmore. The transfer was effective July 1.

Chief Deputy Walter Morris said the move had been made to coordinate the work of the First Township constable's office.

Another Explanation
A Daly City official, who did not wish to use his name, had another explanation. He said the move had been made to meet the demands of San Francisco for more police protection at the airport.

Earlier San Francisco had threatened to incorporate Mills Field unless San Mateo County offered more services.

Chief Morris countered by asserting the constable is not used in this capacity at the field. He noted that the move has meant 24-hour police protection of the unincorporated areas around Daly City, whereas before this was not the case.

Better Protection
"With a central sub station we are now able to offer the north county complete protection," Morris said. "We have three patrols

THAT WAS NO RAT, THAT WAS MY CAT!

Definitely a case of being the victim of both insult and injury was the unhappy situation of a grey and white Daly City cat last Friday night.

Mrs. Alicia Fernandez, of 324 San Diego avenue, reported to local police Saturday that a feline had got caught in the rat trap which she had set in her back yard and that she was unable to extricate the animal.

Officers removed the cat's leg from the double jawed spring trap. The cat, suffering more from wounded pride than a hurt leg, vanished over the back fence.

on duty 24 hours a day."

He also justified the move by stating the constable no longer had to worry about his paper work, and that through the central station a secretary is provided.

"Previous to the change, the constable spent more time doing his own paper work than acting in his official capacity," Chief Morris said.

"The same Daly City official also had a few words about 'paper work.' He said that now the constable's office has been moved it is necessary to go to Redwood City to have any court papers served."

"Whereas before local residents needed only go to the Daly City office, they must now travel to Redwood City," the official asserted.

DIRECT WESTLAKE ROUTE TO OPEN IN NEXT 30 DAYS

State Says Brunswick Extension Too Costly

Extension of Knowles Avenue to give Daly City a direct connection with Westlake has been approved by the state, and work on this project will begin within the next 30 days.

This was brought out at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night when Eaton & Smith were awarded the contract for the job.

As the contractor's bid, opened June 25, had been almost 25 per cent higher than expected, it first had to be approved by the state. The green light was given when the state decided the job could not be done any cheaper.

Extension
Total cost of extending and widening about 200 feet of Knowles Avenue will be $12,757.

When this has been accomplished residents of Westlake will be able to drive up the Alemany extension and straight through to the "top of the hill." Now they must either go down Junipero Serra or up Alemany to reach the heart of Daly City.

While approving this one project, the state turned a cold shoulder on high bids for extending Brunswick Street through the H. H. Smith quarry to Hillside Boulevard. The lowest bid for this job was Eaton & Smith with $53,594, which was 30 per cent over original estimates.

Consequently the council rejected all bids, and will submit new plans for the extension at a later date.

(The state has an interest in both these jobs as gas tax money for the most part will be used to finance the projects.)

Parking Laws
Another measure of interest to all city residents was the passing of a resolution by the council which prohibits parking on one side of North Parkview and South Parkview adjacent to Marchbanks Park.

"This is a measure to protect children coming and going from the park," Councilman Fred Ber-tetta explained. "And it eliminates the danger of a child darting out from behind a parked car."

Wyandotte

City Engineer E. H. Smith reported that the paving of certain sections of Wyandotte Street, as requested in a property owners petition recently, was not practical at this time. He noted the city should, however, clean up the rubbish at the intersection of Wyandotte and Market, and post no dumping signs.

"Also, as this section of the street is not within the city limits, the city can hardly act to pave it," Smith noted.

The matter was referred to City Administrator Dan Andersen for further study.

Other business before the council consisted of progress payments: $11,279 to Ralph Larson & Sons for work on the Community Center Building; $2,388 to Architect Mario Clampi for similar work; $800 to Lawrence Halprin for landscape drawings for the building; $350 to an assessor for work in Police today are searching for a Daly City bookie who got out of town just minutes before his basement apartment at 27 Woodrow Street was raided Tuesday afternoon.

Citizens' Poll

CITY'S DEFENSE PROGRAM LAGS

(Ed Note: See editorial on "Civilian Defense.")

From an impartial poll taken in Daly City this week, it appears that civilian defense here is only about 50 per cent effective.

Although only a small portion of the public was contacted, the answers seem indicative of a general trend.

Questions asked were:

1. Have you been contacted as to what to do in an air raid?
2. Do you know your district warden?
3. Would you be willing to take part in the civilian defense program?
4. Have you been contacted by civilian defense officials?
5. Do you know why the whistles blow at 11 o'clock each Friday?

Pamphlets Mailed
As to the first question, the city has mailed out civilian defense pamphlets. Every citizen should have one of these booklets, and if not they can be had by calling city hall.

The second question was answered by city officials today who noted as yet district wardens have not been appointed. However, the outline of a main governing body has been worked out. This consists of a chairman, assistant director, two main departments, and five sections under each department.

While department heads have been named, the section leaders are still to be named.

Speed-up Planned
City Administrator Dan Andersen said he was working with the mayor, who is the chairman, to speed up the general civilian defense program.

"We hope within the near future to have the whole program functioning," Andersen said today.

He pointed out, however, that during the summer months it was difficult to find volunteers as everyone was on vacation.

Andersen also noted that the backbone of the local civilian defense program was auxiliary police. He said the training of these officers had closed down for the summer, but would resume again in the fall.

Answers
Following are the replies of various residents polled on local civilian defense:

Mrs. Felix Valdez, 345 Westlake avenue, said she had read about civilian defense preparedness in the newspapers. "Well, I wouldn't mind doing something," she said in reply to the defense question. Mrs. Valdez knew about the 11 o'clock whistle and thought it was a good idea.

Mrs. Clyde Yaeger, 465 San Diego avenue, said she has a book concerning precautions to be taken during atomic attack and has attended two Red Cross meetings where the discussion has been centralized on personal and food protection during a bombing disaster. She said that she has an invalid daughter to nurse so she wouldn't be able to do much. Mrs. Yaeger knew the whistle was an air raid warning, but she said, "people

Welcome Neighbor Newcomers Greeted

Starting with the first of August, all newcomers to Daly City will be welcomed in the grand manner through the combined efforts of city departments and local merchants.

Within two weeks of becoming residents of Daly City the new family will be visited by Mrs. Ruth McCool, the official hostess who will bring greeting and well wishes in the form of a basket of merchandise and information pamphlets.

Cooperation of the various local merchants in this friendly enterprise will mean that the new resident will receive many practical and lovely gifts. Also he will be assured of courteous and prompt attention whenever he shops in the Daly City area, and that his shopping needs will be a matter of prime concern to the merchant.

Information
Besides the presents from merchants, the welcoming service is equipped as well to supply the new resident with all manner of information about his new locality. Details of water, light and gas service from the city will all be made known to him in order that he may set up housekeeping with as little inconvenience as possible.

Westlake Association Club House To Open Soon

Westlake residents soon will have the use of a new club house, Charles Becker, Westlake Property Owners Association attorney, announced today.

Arrangements have been made between the Association and Henry Doelger to take over the former Doelger office building at 95 South Mayfair.

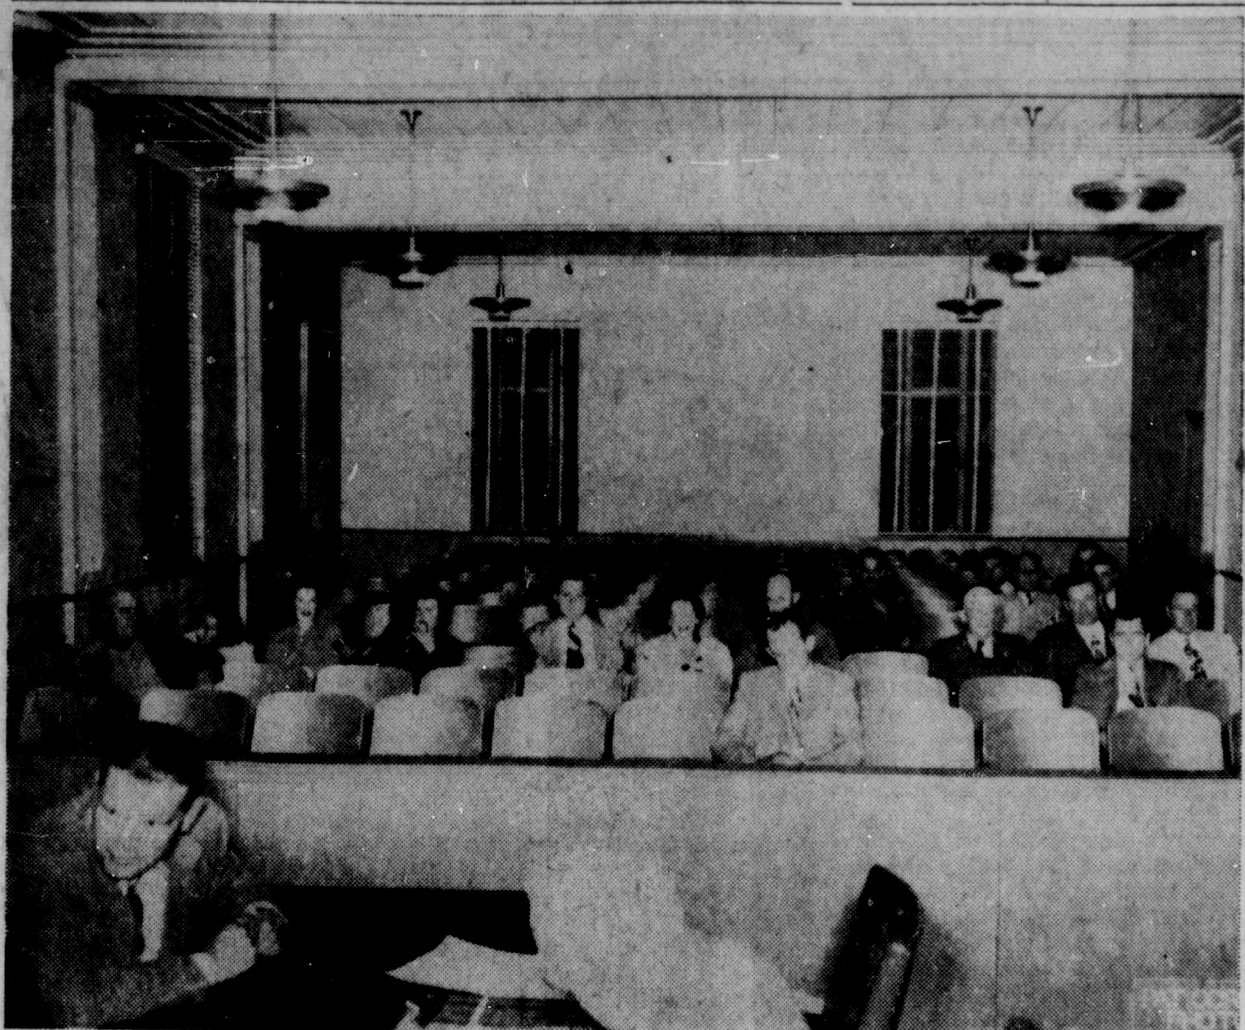

The Association, as well as other Westlake organizations, will have full use of most of the building. (Doelger will maintain but two small offices in the front.)

Becker noted that this is only a "temporary" measure until such time as a new club house is completed in the Westlake park.

The Association will have immediate occupancy of the building, and officials are to begin remodeling it for the use of residents. When completed there will be a large meeting hall, several small rooms and possibly a kitchen, Becker said.

"This is but one more step to provide Westlake residents with proper facilities," Becker stated. "And again it spells complete cooperation between the Doelger organization and the Association."

George Pingry, Association recreation chairman, and Harry Bosberry, secretary, worked out the details for acquiring the building. When remodeling is completed the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cubs, women's clubs, etc. will be notified so they may get full use of the new facilities, Becker said.

ATTENDANCE AT LAST MONDAY'S regular council meeting was up 300 per cent over the previous meeting, but as the picture shows it was far from a record turn out. Only nine of those present were there as citizens on an unofficial capacity. However, only three showed up two weeks ago. Things seem to be improving. (Photo by Pat Corner.)

DR. DREES NOW ON "SICK LEAVE"

Dr. Lawler A. Drees of the Junipero Serra hospital entered St. Mary's Help hospital this week for a hernia operation.

While he is away on "sick leave," his place at the hospital will be filled by Dr. Paul Mossman.

The well known Daly City doctor is expected to be back on the job by September 1.

BOCCI MAY BID FOR NEW COUNTY SEAT IN CONGRESS

Local Attorney Says He Wants Support First

Thomas Bocci Jr., local attorney and judge for the First Township, said this week he intended to run for the United States Congress if supported by the San Mateo County Republican party.

He also noted that in addition to the Republican support, he would need heavy financial backing.

"I'm not going into this thing alone," he said.

Should Bocci get the support he needs, he would enter the June, 1952 primary for the new seat in the house of representatives. This seat was given the San Mateo District following the 1950 census, and reapportionment of congressional representation.

Strong Bid

Bocci said he believes his chances are strong for the backing of the Republican county group.

"I think I'm the only man who could carry the north end of the county for the Republicans, as this district is primarily democratic," Bocci noted.

There is no question that Bocci does carry a heavy vote in this area. Last year the defeated veteran Rudolph A. Rapsey for the position of judge, although Rapsey was heavily favored to win.

The Republican County Central Committee could not be contacted for comment today. However, one Republican official voiced the opinion that it was still too early to speak of the matter.

Richard Dolwig, representative in the state assembly from this district, is also a strong contender for the backing of the Republicans in the congressional race. However, Dolwig as yet has not commented on whether he will seek the position.

Daly City's Expansion

Unincorporated Colma, Broadmoor Are In No Hurry To Join This Community

Residents of unincorporated Colma this week appeared to be in no hurry to join Daly City, despite earlier overtures which led the city council last month to declare the city would be glad to accept the new area.

Involved is the land below Market Street to the old San Pedro Road and Junipero Serra Boulevard. The population of this district is something over 300.

Earlier it was rumored that the unincorporated area from Thiers Street south to Market also might be incorporated. However, councilmen could see no reason to take in this territory which at the present time is practically undeveloped.

Approval Given

Some three months ago residents of the area between incorporated Colma and Daly City expressed a desire to join this community. They asked for the approval of the council, and this was given.

The next step was to circulate a petition and obtain signatures of at least 25 per cent of the residents in the district.

To date this petition has not been circulated, nor is there any sign that it will be within the near future.

"Apathy on the part of those interested seems to be the explanation," City Administrator Dan Andersen said today.

However, a resident of the area who has taken an active interest in incorporation, noted that there "is some opposition to joining Daly City." He pointed out that many of the residents do not believe it would be "worth while," at least at this time.

Broadmoor Again

Meanwhile, talk of taking in Broadmoor again was reaching a new pitch, with some definite action expected in the fall.

Recently a group of Broadmoor residents, headed by Claude Hanrahan, met with city officials to discuss the possibility of annexation.

The city representatives asserted that if Broadmoor joins Daly City they will have a lower tax rate and benefit by many public services.

Taxpayers' Association Reports

San Mateo County's Property Tax Bill More Than Trebled In 10 Years

"Now's the time to howl over local taxes—not next November when the property tax bills come out," California Taxpayers' association declared today.

Property tax bill in San Mateo county has more than trebled in the ten years fiscal 1942 through fiscal 1951, the association said.

Total property tax level in the county for fiscal 1942 was $5,236,485. By fiscal 1951 it had mounted to $17,598,303, up 236 per cent. Levies for the county and the cities, school districts, and special districts in the county are included.

Tax levy for county purposes went from $1,568,796 in fiscal 1942 to $4,517,890 in 1951.

City levies on property went from $1,238,586 for 1942 to $3,442,233 for 1951. Levy for school districts went from $2,169,994 in 1942 to $8,283,713.

Special district levies in the county went from $259,109 for 1941-42 to $1,354,467 for 1950-51.

"The budgets which the county, cities, school districts, and special districts decide upon for 1951-52 will determine the size of the property tax levy in the county for fiscal 1952—the tax bill property owners get this coming November," the Taxpayers' association pointed out.

"August is the taxpayer's 'last chance' to do anything about his local tax bill—except pay it."

"School budgets must be adopted by August 8 or August 10."

"County budgets must be adopted by August 30—many of them are adopted much earlier."

"Tax rates must be set on or before September 1."

"Taxpayer protest of high local taxes should be made to local governing boards—city council, county supervisors, school boards—and the sooner the better."

Monkey Business

Shot Spells End To Monkey's Play

Now comes the problem of what to do when you see a monkey leaping from tree to tree in your back yard.

Mrs. Francis Duffy of 165 Woodrow street, called the Daly City police when she was confronted with this dilemma on the afternoon of July 19.

However, when the police arrived, and the poundman, too, they all had their hands full. The simian, it appeared, had no intention of being captured. Neither did he confine his antics to one yard, but swung from branch to branch of trees in several of the backyards on Woodrow street.

And where did he come from? It was discovered that he belonged to Mrs. John Schlomer residing in the immediate neighborhood at 147 Woodrow street.

Exhaustive and athletic endeavors of the emergency "Frank Bucks" failed to convince the monkey that he should cease his adventure and return home. Finally as a last resort, it was necessary to shoot him.

His remains were taken to the city pound.

The meeting concluded when F. J. Ny, commander of the VFW Post No. 2044, and R. F. Brulez, presented the council, for use in the city library, three books on World War II and the Korean War. Library Chairman A. J. Gaggero accepted the books on behalf of the city, and thanked the post for their fine donation.

position to the move among the Broadmoor residents who are free to admit they are not in accord with "Daly City politics." These same residents add that it appears Broadmoor must some day join Daly City, but this is not the time.

Outcome

The outcome of the debate is expected to reach a peak in the fall when the Broadmoor Property Owners' Association meets. At that time those in favor of joining Daly City are expected to request the support of the Association. The result of this meeting is anyone's guess.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell Farmer of 149 Templeton, were delightfully feted with a surprise party at their home recently in commemoration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

don't pay any attention to it; it should be different from the fire signal."

Volunteers

Mrs. John W. Kenny, 52 Alexander avenue, received a pamphlet with instructions on what to do in case of an Atomic attack, but she didn't know who her district air raid warden was. In regards to taking part in a civilian defense program, Mrs. Kenny said, "Well I could, up to a certain point, but I have four children to take care of and I am a Red Cross nurse anyway."

When asked about the 11 o'clock air raid whistle, she said, "I think it's a good thing, but sometimes people take it for granted."

Mrs. Gordon McBride, 236 Los Olivos avenue, has not received civil defense material and she does not know her district air raid warden.

"If it is possible, I'd like to help in a civilian defense program, but I couldn't do a great deal," Mrs. McBride said. In reply to the whistle, Mrs. McBride responded, "I should think it's a good thing if it aids some group, but otherwise it's just blowing off excess steam."

Not Contacted

Mrs. Sidney R. Powell, 6628 Mission street, has not been contacted about any civilian defense measures. Referring to a program of this type she said, "I work, but I'd like to help in some way." She didn't know the whistle was connected with the civilian defense program, but she thought the whistle was a good idea.

Mrs. Claire Flanigan, 18 Westdale avenue, has not received any correspondence concerning civilian defense and does not know her air raid warden. When questioned if she would assist in a civilian defense program she exclaimed, "Well yes, up to a certain point; I wouldn't have too much time." Regarding the whistle, Mrs. Flanigan said, "I have trouble distinguishing the different noises, but I think it's a good idea if the whistle isn't confusing."

Mrs. H. W. Holman, 71 Cliffside drive, said she hadn't received any civil defense material and she didn't know her air raid warden. In answer to the question of assistance she said, "It depends on how much is involved. I'm a nurse so I'd be on call in an emergency anyway."

Mrs. John G. Patton, 776 Niantic avenue, said she hasn't been contacted. Replying to the question of assistance in a defense program, she said, "As much as I'm able I'd like to help, but I have two small children to take care of." She thought the whistle was used only for fires. "I guess air raid drills are good," she said, "but I don't think many people pay attention to the whistle any more."

not be reached by phone, and is therefore for all practical purposes "no longer serving the Daly City area."

Chief Morris said this was not the case, and that there is a direct phone to the new constable's office.

The constable for the First Township, Robert A. Lynch, could not be reached for comment. The transfer set Daly City back "about 30 years," the Daly City official said.

"We fought for many years to have the office located here, and it looks as if at long last the Supervisors have got their way," the official noted.

"Here is one more case where local residents are paying taxes, and receiving little or nothing in return."

Whether any collective action would be taken by Daly City residents and the city council to have the office returned could not be ascertained today.

Seventy sons and daughters of Ford Motor Company employees will receive four-year college or university scholarships this year. $50,000 Appropriated By State For Rain Making Experiments

One of the more constructive pieces of legislation signed by Governor Earl Warren was AB 2706, by Assemblyman Randal F. Dickey, of Alameda, which provides $50,000 for research into artificial rain-making.

The bill is short, and merely gives the State Water Resources Board the authority to contract with public and private organizations and persons for research relative to the production and control of rainfall by artificial means. Although $50,000 is a small amount to determine the feasibility and anticipated results from a project of this magnitude, it will at least, in the opinion of Water Resources officials, get the ball rolling for some extensive investigations into making rain fall on areas sorely in need of moisture.

Although every effort is made to find out about newcomers, in the event a new resident does not receive a call from the official hostess within a month of moving here, he is asked to call PL 5-0867 and he will be contacted with all the benefits of the welcoming service.

Supplementing the features of the service already organized, will be a sightseeing tour of Daly City. Plans are now underway for this project which will be put in operation within the next two months.

Organizing genius in back of this enterprise is Mrs. Alice Van Over of 205 Woodrow street. Mrs. Van Over started a similar service in one of the nearby cities, which met with great success. And thus encouraged, and feeling that making people feel welcome in a new place is never a waste of time, she has launched on this worthy project in Daly City.

Three automobile collisions involving property damage only were reported this week from the Daly City police station.

An auto accident as Skyline boulevard and Alemany Extension, Wednesday, involved cars driven by Edmund Fischer, 824 Teresa blvd., and Theodore C. Hossfeld, Pine Court, Kentfield, Calif. Both cars were able to proceed under their own power.

Not so fortunate was the car belonging to Walter E. Starke, 1743 Waller st., San Francisco. When this vehicle was involved in an accident Sunday with a car belonging to Fred A. Davis, 14 Brighton avenue, San Francisco, it had to be towed to Lombardi's Service station. The other car was able to leave the scene of the accident at the intersection of Mission and School under its own power.

In an accident last Thursday at Vale and Mission streets, three vehicles were in collision. They belonged to Fred F. Marsh, 173 Moltke, Henry G. Klinkhamer, 921 Idlewood Circle, El Siblunt, Calif., and Charles W. Sylvar, 390 Vienna street, San Francisco.

Local Family Moves To Mountain Town

East Vista, accompanied by her Mrs. Garland Hauschild of 108 three sons, left Saturday for Pine Grove, Cal., where Hauschild has been employed in a saw mill since January.

The Hauschilds decided to make their permanent home in this mountainous community following a visit there a few months ago at which time they became very much attached to the place.

News of churches and schools is included in the information to be made known to those whose choice this city for their home. Bus schedules to various points in this vicinity comprise more knowledge to be imparted as a feature of the new service.

In short, all manner of information about Daly City which the newcomer needs will be given him by the hostess.

BOOKIE LEAVES AHEAD OF COPS

from the offices of District Attorney Louis B. Dematteis and Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore.

Warned

The alleged bookie was frightened when the three officers first went to the Woodrow street home without a search warrant. After knocking and receiving no answer they returned to the police station where Chief Sunderland put in a phone call to the apartment.

A man answered the phone, but hung up a moment later.

The three returned to the home to find the basement doors open, and evidence that the apartment had just been evacuated. Inside they found bookmaking material and a phone.

Explains

Chief Sunderland explained this three way operation as: "We didn't know whether the tip was legitimate, and we couldn't break into the home without first getting a search warrant."

The alleged bookie was renting the basement apartment from Nathan Martinelli, operator of the State Sheet Metal Works, 6084 Mission street. Martinelli, who lives in the home with his wife and two young children, has been a resident of Daly City for the past eight years.

Chief Sunderland said that no action was pending against Martinelli, and he believes the Daly City man innocent of any part in the bookmaking activities.

Doesn't Speak

Martinelli told officers that Peterson rented the basement apartment July 4, and he had only seen him between that date and July 10. He said he left the house early in the morning, and had no reason to speak to Peterson.

The Daly City man went on to explain that his wife also works, and that his two children are now away on vacation, Chief Sunderland said.

Chief Sunderland said that the bookie was a "small time operator," and that he probably took bets for no more than $400 a day.

However, Inspector Paul Jensen of the sheriff's office who took part in the raid with Sunderland and A. L. Lamport of the district attorney's office, said the operation was "a big outfit."

After entering the basement apartment Jensen said he answered the phone and took bets for about five minutes. He said during this time the bets totaled almost $100, and that evidence indicated the operations "would net at least $1,000 a day."

Dogs Have Day With Local Law

Man's best friend and the law engaged in a series of incidents over the past weekend in Daly City.

Mrs. Robbins, 114 Parkview avenue, Sunday had the local pound take charge of the dog which she in turn was taking care of for her sister. Mr. Robbins was forced into this measure because the pooch was always barking and disturbing the neighborhood.

The pound will take over until such a time as Mrs. Robbins is able to make other arrangements for the room and board of the animal. Definitely a victim of circumstances as far as being called to the attention of police is concerned is the dog belonging to Ralph Judkins, formerly of Daly City, but now residing at 941 Anna street, San Mateo. The police in San Mateo phoned the local police Monday that this particular hound was sporting a Daly City dog license and they wondered how come.

Investigation by Daly City officers brought to light the fact that everything was on the up and up as Judkins had only recently moved away from this city. Consequently his dog was still numbered among the pet contingent of this place.

The biting dog on the list is the one belonging to 627 Crocker avenue. Edward I. Denning, 151 Wellington avenue, was helping Vivian Meyers push her car last Thursday when he was bit on the left hand by this dog which belongs to Meyers.

Denning was taken to the Junipero Serra hospital in a Daly City police car for treatment.

Westlake Architectural Committee Studies Fence, Clothesline Problem

The Westlake architectural committee met July 19, with Mr. Martin O'Connor presiding.

After the usual preliminaries, and committee reports, the committee took up the ever pressing problem of backyard fences and clotheslines. It has come to the attention of the committee that some of the individually constructed fences do not conform to the instructions laid down in the by laws of the Association.

In the report of the previous meeting, all residents were urged to read these by-laws, and to request assistance from the committee in planning improvements. Some requests have been received and have been acted upon.

The next meeting will be held in August.

Where Are The Civic Organizations At Council Meetings?

Democracy and the general state of affairs in Daly City got a collective "shot in the arm" this Monday when nine good citizens saw fit to attend a council meeting.

These nine, majority of whom were women, took it upon themselves to represent the 15,000 residents of Daly City.

Although interest in Monday's meeting represented a 300 per cent increase over the attendance of the last meeting, nine seemed hardly enough.

There were, for example, no representatives from Westlake or the Westlake Improvement Association, even though almost one-third of Daly City's population now resides in that area.

It is our opinion that the Westlake Association, along with all other active civic bodies, has too long overlooked the city council... except when it has a gripe.

We would recommend that these citizens' groups elect one officer a year to attend the council meetings, to get to know the city officials. It would be his, or her job to act as a type of liaison officer between the city and the citizens he represents.

The effectiveness of this action for better understanding between city officials and the citizens was dramatized at last Monday night's meeting when three residents presented a problem to Councilman Fred Bertetta.

"That's a fine idea," Bertetta said, commenting on a civic improvement. "But it takes time. It's too bad we didn't know about it earlier, and by now the problem might have been solved. Someone has to get the ball rolling, and I'm glad you've seen fit to come up here and start it."

Bertetta's opinion is shared by the other councilmen who are anxious for the public to show some real interest in city affairs.

How about you, or your organization getting that "ball rolling?"

Still No Adequate Civilian Defense Program

Although we have been in a period of war for over a year, Daly City's civilian defense program is still in the mobilization stages.

The city has made progress in that all residents (or a good number of them) are registered, and the skeleton form of a civilian defense program has been worked out.

However, Daly City has failed miserably to bring the program down to a level where it would do one bit of good were an A-bomb to drop tomorrow or next month. There are vague plans of procedure under such an attack, but nothing concrete.

There are as yet no district or block wardens to meet such a disaster.

The city is training, but has no organized auxiliary police force.

No provision has been made for evacuation of the city; or more important to cope with those evacuating San Francisco.

And while whistles blow every Friday at 11 o'clock, as a practice air raid warning, they have become such a routine matter that they now mean little or nothing.

These are but a few of the major flaws in Daly City's so called civilian defense program. We suppose it is natural for city officials to put civilian defense in a secondary position. After all, it is not as pressing as the other problems facing a growing city.

Also, it is difficult for any of us to realize that such a thing as an A-bomb attack is even possible. And what is not comprehensible is rarely feared.

Nevertheless, the Russians are not pouring billions into jet planes and A-bomb research merely to have something to do.

It is our opinion that Daly City officials had best get the civilian defense program off of paper and into the realm of reality before the day arrives when a bomb blows that paper work sky high.

A Helping Hand To The Wastelands

The South of San Mateo County this month shoved the Daly City area a little farther into the waste-lands.

We speak of the arbitrary removal of the North County constable from his Daly City office to Mills Field.

As constable for the First Township, Robert A. Lynch served an important roll in the Daly City area as an aid to the court and citizens in serving papers. He also acted as a central headquarters for complaints issuing from citizens in areas not covered by police protection.

With the removal of Lynch to Mills Field, it is now necessary for anyone wishing to serve papers to go to Redwood City. All these papers must now be channeled through the Sheriff's Office.

This may mean little to the average citizen, but remember your tax dollar is helping to support this constable who is now in a position to do little or nothing for you.

Many years ago the north county fought to gain the constable's services. It was a long fight, and we finally won. However, after some 30 years the officials in Redwood City have claimed their own, and one more service has been moved back south.

Those in Redwood City seem to be of the opinion that all government should stem from that center, but the taxes can continue to go up and be poured into the south of the county by the north county.

But what makes this case especially ironical, is the real reason for the constable's removal from this area... to protect Mills Field, operated by San Francisco.

In a word, dear taxpayer, not only are you denied a necessary public servant, but your tax dollar is jumped to help pay for services for San Francisco.

As pointed out in a story on page 1, Sheriff Earl Whitmore has justified this action by noting this area now has 24 hour police protection, whereas before this was not the case. He is to be congratulated for his interest, but we don't believe he had to remove the constable to obtain this end.

Do we blame Sheriff Whitmore, but rather the real reason, the "put on the pressure" for the Mills Field extra guard.

All of which leads us to an election coming up next year in which it may be possible for the north county to get a man on the board of supervisors who will let the boys in Redwood City know that Daly City is more than a convenient source of revenue for the county coffers.

This Isn't The Time To Extend Brunswick Street

The city, along with the rest of us, just doesn't have enough dollars to go around these days.

There is some talk that due to increased building costs the Community Center Building will not be completed as earlier planned. It may be necessary to greatly cut down on the interior plans for the structure.

Even the parks program is suffering because of increased costs of materials.

Certainly no rational being can blame the city for this turn of events, especially as hindsight is always a 100 per cent better than foresight.

Still, this does not mean that wise spending is not in order.

Consequently we wonder as to the wisdom of extending Brunswick Street through to Hillside Boulevard at this time. Bids opened June 25 were 30 per cent higher than expected and the low bid was over $50,000. The city is expected to call for new bids, but chances are these too will be at least 20 per cent higher than the job would have cost one year ago.

This is not to question the desirability of extending Brunswick. Unquestionably it is an excellent idea, especially as it will connect two sections of the city now divided.

But is this the time to spend so much money for so little real material good, especially as the same job may be done in a few years for so much less? We think the answer is "no."

That $40,000 or $50,000 could be put to a much better use in our recreation program.

Here, let us state we are not taking sides with H. H. Smith, Daly City's ex-mayor, who has fought to keep the city from cutting the street through his property. That matter is strictly one between Smith, the city and the individual opinions of readers.

The only side we are taking is the one dictated by a dollar worth 40 cents, a street which is not absolutely necessary, and the welfare of the taxpayers.

Name Changing

Local Citizen Calls Upon Readers To Switch Name Of "Daly City"

(Ed. Note: Following is a form letter now being distributed by one "W. F. Strong," urging that the name of Daly City be changed to Vista Grande. From what we have been able to ascertain copies of the letter have been mailed to scores of local residents.)

When Don Gaspar di Portola wended his expedition through the Santa Cruz Mountains and up El Camino Real he was overcome by the beautiful vista from the hills of this area.

He mapped and recorded this area as Vista Grande, meaning "beautiful view."

It was known for many years by that name and as such was recorded in official documents.

Unfortunately for this beautiful and progressive community, the name was changed about 65 years ago to "Daly City" after John D. Daly who has now faded into absolute obscurity.

A movement is now in progress to restore to this city its original spanish name of "Vista Grande."

Daly City, with its beautiful vista of green hills, ocean and bay merits this restoration.

WILL YOU PLEASE HELP US?

Here's how! Hereafter in your correspondence, show your address as follows:

VISTA GRANDE (Daly City) California

Tell your friends and neighbors to do likewise. This will impregnate the old name back into the minds of the residents and commercial houses in this area. Soon we will be able to drop the name of Daly City and ask for a legal restoration. Do you have any suggestions? Write and tell us about it.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

by Henry C. MacArthur

A recent decision of the California Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board once again bids fair to toss the fat in the fire for the board and the California Department of Employment with a lawsuit which could affect every employer in the state.

Employers contend the decision, which involves disqualification notices and a determination of claims on receipt of those notices, circumvents the Unemployment Insurance Act as a matter of administrative expediency.

The department maintains it is carrying out the purposes of the act.

Long Battle

The point at issue is the long-drawn out battle of employers to obtain consideration of their protests to the payment of unemployment insurance to persons who quit jobs voluntarily or who are fired for misconduct. The battle is one through which the employer seeks to protect his reserve fund with the commission, and thereby earn the right to pay a lower unemployment insurance tax.

Although a section of the act provides an employer may protest within five days after an employee is fired for misconduct, or quits voluntarily, and have an immediate determination as to whether the employee is entitled to insurance or penalties, employers contend the Department of Employment in the past has failed to consider these notices.

In other words, it has not put the presumption of proving entitlement to insurance on the employee after the protest is filed.

From A Corner

By Bill Katz

Hunting always seemed to us a pretty fine sport until we recently began to follow the adventures of a national columnist in Africa.

This particular writer is tracking down lions, leopards and anything else that happens to wander into his gun sights.

Although we can't approve of knocking over animals just for a heck of it, we admit there is some merit to a lone man pitting his skill and intelligence against the forces of nature. However, at this point we stop, and the columnist takes over.

Not Alone

He left New York, not alone, but with his ever loving wife. Mistake No. 1: we can't see where a woman has any place wandering around the jungles, unless in a Tarzan picture.

Upon arriving in Africa, the writer hires himself a first class guide and a cortege made up of everything from trucks to small cannons. Mistake No. 2: there's nothing wrong with one guide (Africa is mighty big, and it's possible to get lost), but what chance has an animal against a GMC truck or jeep?

Poor Lion

Once they spot some forlorn lion, whose merely sunning himself under a tree, the hero and guide take careful aim with a rifle which closely resembles an elephant gun. The shot is guided through telescopic sights from a position which makes it impossible to miss.

So this is sportsmanship? Bah, we think it is closer to slaughter.

Trouble is the same general style of hunting has captivated America. No longer does a man simply put a pack on his back, take up a rifle and head for the woods. No, now he equips himself with the utmost in comforts from a portable radio to bathtub. His gun is of a size and type earlier used as artillery by soldiers. And if he's got enough spare cash, he hires on a guide whose function is to be sure the "boss" returns with a trophy for the den.

Some Exceptions

Fortunately there are a few real sportsmen left in the world, especially those who truly feel compassion for the animals they hunt.

But for the others, like our columnist, we have a real "sport"—war. It's our opinion that these would be hunters should be put on the front lines of Korea. There they could use all the big weapons they wanted, with plenty of equipment, and officers as guides.

It might not be as comfortable as lion hunting, but at least the object of the hunt would have a fighting chance.

Rebuilding the glass furnace in the Ford Motor Company's Rouge plant and other planned improvements in the glass plant will increase daily melting capacity there from 75 tons to 100 tons.

Former Mayor "Explains"

SMITH BLAMES COUNCIL'S ATTITUDE FOR LACK OF PROPER ATTENDANCE

July 24, 1951

Editor
The Record
Daly City, California
Dear Sir:

I read with interest and appreciation your editorials calling attention to lack of interest in government by our citizenry, pointing out the dire results of a continuation of such an attitude and urging attendance at our local City Council and School Board meetings.

While I appreciate your efforts, I, for one, am not thereby persuaded to again attend either one of those meetings. It seems to me that some of the experiences that I have had when so doing may give a clue to some of the reasons for the failure of others to attend and may cause you to believe that you would accomplish more in your efforts by pointing out some of the reasons for this lack of attendance.

Some Rule

As near as I can learn, there is some rule of apparently mysterious origin to the effect that any matter which one wishes to take up at a council meeting can be brought up only if a letter in relation thereto has been sent in and has been in the Mayor's file for a sufficient number of days in advance of the meeting. Why, I have no idea.

During the 18 years that I had the honor of serving as Mayor of our city, the outstanding pleasure of being in such a position was in finding an intense interest in all council meetings and a large gathering at practically every one of them. To have held a meeting without an audience taking part would have meant the elimination of the most interesting phase of public office experience, and the present situation as I have witnessed and experienced it and which was so clearly depicted in your recent photograph, showing only three in attendance, presents to me a pitiful spectacle. I doubt that the attitude of the City Council of those days was such as to give the present impression of self-appraised super intellect and infallibility on their part, as such is not conducive to large and interested audiences.

Sad Performance

Were is not such a disgraceful performance there would be comedy in such a situation where in the council members, while being addressed, react somewhat in the following manner: Two of them engage in a conversation between themselves, evidently on something foreign to the one being discussed, and continue to do so throughout the entire discussion. Another in a listless mood and pensive state presents the likeness of "The Thinker," but leaving no doubt but what he is thinking of something else entirely, possibly the coming weekend in the country. Another adds to the demonstration of disinterest and disrespect by pouring over a lot of papers on his desk with no evidence of interest in the discussion. Finally, there is the wide awake fifth member to whom a request to speak lightens up his countenance with what some might mistake for a smile, but which more nearly resembles a silly grin or smirk, or something that might well be termed "the official sneer."

So intense is his interest that he manifests it by interrupting the speaker by frequent sarcastic interruptions, generously interspersed with disrespectful and disdainful remarks and wisecracks. While he shows masterful ability and accomplishments in that respect, I venture the opinion that they are a throwback to more suitable surroundings and environment and that they indicate a fitting background and receptive mind for the development of such unusual talent.

Something New

Procedure such as this at a city council meeting being entirely new to me, I was naive enough to expect the Chairman to call attention to the fact that this time they were in a government building and conducting a public meeting, but such was not to be.

My experiences in attempting to take part in school meetings might also point out reasons for the lack of attendance.

Remember—YOU CAN beat the A-bomb. There ARE rules for survival. The first is: Fall flat on the ground—or floor—and bury your face in your arms.

Civil Defense is the vital business of everyone—young, old—the strong, the weak. Our Civil Defense will be just as strong or as weak—as we the people want it.

of the attendance that there should be at those meetings. I think back somewhat humorously to one such experience at a school board meeting. I had been to Sacramento and had had a very pleasant and satisfactory meeting discussing with the state school authorities some of the unsatisfactory phases of the school program and of which our citizens were complaining, such as only constructing four or five classrooms at the Woodrow Wilson school site where more than double that number of rooms were being eliminated—the improbability of the district ever being able to condemn the golf links for a larger school site at Broadmoor as was suggested—the delay we might expect as the result of the school boards action in dismissing at such a time an architect so well known and so satisfactory to the state authorities and replacing him with an architect of whom they said they had never heard—the probable delay in school construction—and other important questions. When I asked permission to speak after the Chairman had sat so inanimately, permitting the discussion to go on and on, I had the surprise to witness him suddenly becoming wide awake, refusing me the floor and pounding the table continuously with his gavel until I had again taken my seat.

No Invite

At any rate when the state authorities came down from Sacramento to go over the various questions and dissatisfactions that were in the minds of a great number of our citizens, the school board made attendance at that meeting dependent upon an invitation from them of which I received none.

A call upon our local Superintendent later on asking that I be permitted to look at the minutes of the school board meeting—which by the way are public records—brought forth an answer that on instructions I was not to be permitted to see the minutes without first obtaining written permission from Michael Callan, the Clerk of the board.

However, it was of no consequence to me as the information I sought was also of record in Redwood City.

Brunswick Street

In the city's condemnation suit against me on the famous Brunswick Street extension, sales of the former Vista Grande School property was used by the City's appraisers as an example of property values and price advances in this area, and in checking on those transactions in Redwood City I learned the following:

1. On September 19, 1947, the Vista Grande School site was sold.
2. The successful bidder was Edward W. Goldkuhl.
3. The price for which it was sold was $17,500.
4. The site comprised three lots, No. 1, 2, and 3, running through from Mission Street to Santa Barbara Avenue and had a frontage of approximately 180 feet on both Mission Street and on Santa Barbara Avenue at the rear.

5. In December of 1948 Edward W. Goldkuhl, the original purchaser, deeded the property to Treasure Island Motel and Trailer Court, Inc., of which the Board of Directors on record are Fred C. Bertetta, a school trustee when the school property was sold and now one of our city councilmen, John Elmer Kennedy who will be reelected for his intense activity and interest in the school program and who is now our Daly City Fire Chief, and Edward W. Goldkuhl who purchased the property from the school district.

No Change

6. The records in the transfer from Goldkuhl to Treasure Island Motel and Trailer Court, Inc. (Bertetta, Kennedy and Goldkuhl) indicate that no money changed hands in this transaction as there was no revenue stamps on the deed as required by law at the rate of $1.19 per $1000 of valuation.
7. In March, 1949, Treasure Island Motel and Trailer Court deeded part of the property to Henry Doelger, Inc., and the stamps placed on that deed indicated that the price was about $28,500, about double the price the district received for the school property, as this deal took in only part of the original property.

Another Boy Is Victim Of High School Thefts

Another victim of the Jefferson high school series of thefts was Daniel Falconer, 103 Village Lane, Garden Village.

Daniel reported to police that on Tuesday a thief had stolen from the school's premises, a hard baseball and a baseball glove with his name on the back of the wrist band.

One of the most disastrous effects of an atomic attack is widespread fire. Start today to clear out those accumulations that increase fire hazard during normal times and add fuel to the flames if a bomb falls.

ate that the price was about $28,500, about double the price the district received for the school property, as this deal took in only part of the original property.

Deed Signed

8. The deed from the Treasure Island Motel and Trailer Court to Henry Doelger, Inc., was signed by Fred C. Bertetta, former school trustee and now city councilman, as President of the Treasure Island Motel and Trailer Court, and John Elmer Kennedy, our fire chief, as Secretary.

9. On or about the same day in March, 1949, Henry Doelger, Inc., deeded this last mentioned property, a part of the original sale to Henry Doelger and Thelma Doelger, his wife, in joint tenancy. The absence of revenue stamps on this deed showed that no money changed hands in this deal.

10. In December, 1949, Doelger and wife deeded this property to Mario C. Ciampi, the new school architect.

Revenue Stamps

11. The revenue stamps affixed to this deed from the Doelgers to Ciampi indicate a price of about $23,500 or something like $5000 less than the price paid by Doelger to Treasure Island Motel and Trailer Court a short time previous.

After studying all the above records I couldn't see any detrimental use that could have been made by the city's appraisers in the condemnation suit in their attempt to show trend of prices and sales by using as an example a record of sales wherein a profit of approximately 100% had apparently been made in the sale from Treasure Island Motel and Trailer Court to Doelger and example of an apparent loss of some $5000 in the sale from Doelger to Ciampi, school architect. However, if any questions have arisen in the minds of our citizens wherein this record of transactions on the former Vista Grande School site serves to give the answer or satisfies any of their curiosity, there it is.

Natural Pattern

Let me be misunderstood, let me say that my waterfront teamster experiences from 1905 to 1907 have served well throughout my life to teach me to expect people to act to a pattern natural to them and none of my experiences herein related have any serious personal meaning to me whatever. Our country is governed by majority rule and any time the majority of the people of our country or of our city or school district are satisfied with the way they are run, it's O.K. with me.

Unpopular

Something seems to tell me that I am about as popular with a lot of people as is J. Edgar Hoover with those to whom he gives much time and attention. They just aren't very fond of him and for sometime succeeded quite well in discrediting him with their propaganda. It took a lot more than here locally where all the school board or city council has to do is yell, "Someone is bringing selfish interests and politics into this meeting."

Incidentally, your article a few weeks ago stating that all barriers have been removed in the city's plans to extend Brunswick Street through my property might have been a little misleading. The right of the city to put the street in is settled but the matter of how much the city is to pay is now in the higher courts where I have every confidence of a reversal of the judgment. If not, I shall appeal it to the Supreme Court.

Some Doubt

In conclusion, I recollect that you, in one of your editorials, suggested that possibly one of the reasons for lack of interest on the part of our citizens might be their complete satisfaction with the way our school and city government are conducted. I doubt that, and I'm going to base my doubt on complaints as brought to me and which are best described as "gripes." With your permission I'd like to send them in for public airing under the heading of "Misdirected Gripes" as no purpose is served by such gripes unless they are taken to the governmental bodies.

Yours very truly,
H. H. SMITH

T'Was An Ill Wind

G. L. Reandeau, 342 Willits st., found out last Friday that it certainly is an ill wind. While he was spraying earwig poison in his yard, the wind blew some of it into his face and mouth.

Results of the wind's action necessitated treatment at the Junipero Serra hospital.

DEAR PARENTS

By Jane Keith

Little five year old Joyce, who lives across the street from us, had a bad fall the other day. She was playing on a home rigged trapeze in her back yard and somehow misjudged her distances. She fell on one cheek and the side of her nose suffering lacerations and bruises in the process.

Two trips to the hospital plus a week of having dressings changed by a nurse in the neighborhood and Joyce is as good as new, but what about the cause of the accident, the trapeze? Should it be removed from the yard because it is too dangerous for so young a child—or were her parents at fault in not setting it up properly for a five year old?

Looking at the apparatus I found that it had been set fully two feet higher than it should have been for safe play. The space under it was hard packed earth with a clutter of small, hard objects—all dangerous to a falling child, yet even these would not have been too hurtful if Joyce had fallen twelve or fourteen inches instead of several feet!

Children need to climb, run, shout and throw things. They should do these things for their proper muscular and mental development. Children will do these things whether we parents like them to do so or not, but parental forethought can make things a lot easier for all concerned.

Spirit Gone

When a small child whops you with his building blocks or a small toy truck crashes into the side of your head—all in the spirit of good clean fun on the child's part—that child doesn't need a spanking, he needs a ball, a pillow or some bean bags—to THROW!

Backyard equipment is good and most of us want it because it keeps our children where we can watch them, but please, please, please—SMALL equipment for the small child. Look at your public parks and see what they have and if you find your pocketbook too empty for such slides, swings, etc., use stout boxes for them to sit in, some sand—even piled in a corner, a plank for them to walk up—leaned against a step, perhaps.

Check Toys

Check your child's toys and play space! If you are not one to use your library for books on the subject—call your Daly City Recreation director, Mr. Elman Rose—at his office in the City Hall. He will be more than happy to give you advice on home equipment for your child.

Joyce Jones had, luckily, only bruises and small cuts, but she might just as well have suffered a broken neck—and all in her own back yard!

Powder And A Rock Sends Kids To Hospital

Two-year-old Robert Landau of 267 Frankfort street, was one of three children in need of care at the Junipero Serra hospital recently.

Monday Robert took some neutralizing power from the bathroom of the family home and decided to find out how it tasted. He required treatment at the hospital in Colma.

Gary Baristianos, six years old, of 21 Gambetta street, was struck on the head with a rock while playing in a lot at the back of his home last Thursday afternoon. His mother called the Daly City police who took the child to the Junipero Serra hospital for help and then returned him home again.

A two year old guest of Mrs. F. M. McKim, 21 Park Plaza drive, suffered a convulsion and was taken to the hospital in Colma by the local police Sunday. He was treated there and returned to the Daly City address.

The little boy is Jeffrey Barton of 20103 Anita street, Castro Valley.

Police Act As Lost And Found Department

Lost and found activities of the Daly City police were called into service for little James Wolford, three years old, of 163 Palmetto avenue, San Francisco, Sunday.

And even as the police were busy trying to locate the boy's parents, his uncle, Mr. Toyne, came into the station searching for the same child. James was turned over to his uncle who explained that the little boy had wandered off while his mother was in the phone booth at the bakery.

Westlake Baptist Church

Summer Program Successful

Spurred on by the prospects of soon acquiring a building site in the Westlake Doelger Tract, the members of the Westlake Community Baptist Church, have made great advancements during the first two summer months of June and July.

Since Olivet Memorial Park Directors invited this fast growing Westlake church to use their beautiful Abbey Chapel, Hillside Blvd., and F Sts., Colma, for Sunday morning worship, with additional rooms, and another chapel, to begin their Sunday School, the church has seen a spectacular and phenomenal growth.

Steady Growth
The first eight weeks of the Sunday School brought 72 in attendance on the second Sunday of operation. The morning services, with two choirs, have been filled with an enthusiastic congregation. Tops in attendance so far during the summer was 93. With many families away on vacation the church is making every effort to avoid any summer recession, and so far the untiring efforts of the people have been rewarded as the church forges ahead instead of experiencing a traditional summer recession.

The large growth of young people attending has enabled Miss Joanne Brehm, organist and youth choir director, to start the new Intermediate Choir, which brings three choirs serving the morning worship hour.

Site Problem
The section of land in Westlake Tract allotted for church building sites is now tied up in a law suit with the Ocean Shore Railway, and the church will have to wait until the suit reaches a settlement before erecting a church edifice.

Recently, Dan Andersen, city administrator, represented the city in the installation of 85 charter members.

Mayor John Price of Colma brought a word of greeting from the City of Colma, expressing best wishes for future success.

Rev. Roy L. Milam, pastor, said, "I am thrilled because of the advancement we have made this summer. I want our church to be known as the friend of everyone in the community, as the ministry of our church is to everyone in the community, as well as to its constituency."

Lions Club

Ed Weisenburger, "Grand Old Man" Of Colma Saluted By Fellow Lions

The "grand old man" of Colma, many other public and club offices. Ed Weisenburger, was the honored guest at the special Ladies Day meeting of the Lions Club Wednesday.

Mr. Weisenburger, a charter member of the Lions, was feted by both the men and women present. A large three layer cake was beautifully decorated in his honor. Stanford Hannah, Jefferson High School superintendent, gave a short speech in which he outlined the life of Weisenburger and his many contributions to the community.

It was, also, Weisenburger's birthday... he is 80 years old.

Pioneer
The pioneer resident of this area was born in Nevada City, California, July 25, 1871, Hannah told guests. He came to Colma in 1895 and two years later opened the monument works which he now operates.

Weisenburger was the first city clerk of Colma, a position he still occupies. In addition to being a charter member of the Lions, Weisenburger has been a member of the Masons for the past 50 years. He has served as trustee for the Jefferson High School District, and held

Miss McNab Enters Holy Name Convent

Miss Marylin V. McNab, daughter of Mrs. Rose McNab, vice regent of Court St. Mary CDA and the late Mr. Hugh D. McNab leaves July 24 to enter the convent of the Holy Name, Oakland, as a postulant.

Her many friends will remember her as a popular student body officer of the class of 1951 of the Immaculate Conception Academy in San Francisco, where she graduated in June as an honor student.

Miss McNab also won wide attention the past year when she won the Bank of America award for fine arts.

Boy Returns "Gift" To Police Station

David Troup, 10 years old, of 124 Rhine street, San Francisco, reported to the Daly City police station Tuesday with a four wheel flexy racer which he stated was given to him by a boy named Dickie.

The racer now being taken care of by the police has a wooden body, metal wheels and rubber tires.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By DIANE DALY

Through the looking glass: Have you ever wondered what impression a stranger might get upon arriving in our town? You might be surprised to learn that the locality, the scenery, architecture or weather is not always the deciding factor, since all of these are gradual awarenesses rather than immediate.

I think you will agree, if you sift your own prejudices for or against certain cities or places, that the main impression gained was through the people themselves, and how the more favorable your exposure to natives, the higher you felt about their city. I do believe our impressions of a town are greatly dependent upon the hospitality and business practices of persons living in the area, the friendliness perhaps of the local citizenry in directing or assisting the neighbor within thy gates. . . This personal contact immediately impresses the visitor for better or worse, and it follows that upon finding courtesy and congeniality, the tourist might stay to shop or avail himself of local services and carry away with him a good impression which he will not forget.

Quite directly this concerns the driving citizens, and those who police our streets, since our tourists are almost entirely auto-born. Unfortunately with our main street an artery to and from hundreds of other communities we must maintain rigid enforcement of traffic rules for safety's sake. However, we can be responsible for our own individual conduct, and give the driver on "strange ground" a break.

All To Good
Driving about with relatives from out of state, I can report that their impressions, despite a foggy cold week, were all to the good. My guests were quite astounded by the courtesy extended to them (especially on the road), both here and in San Francisco. They assured me that such was not the case in a good number of cities and towns. Having driven almost the length and breadth of the country, they had accumulated a store of "impressions" predicated to a great extent on the human element involved.

You may just be the only Daly City-zen some visitor may have occasion to meet, so let us all remember that civic manners always pay big dividends—even after the tourist season is over.

RETURNED:

At home again after a week's sojourn at Lakewood Lodge, Lake Tahoe, was Mrs. Ed Nestell, and son, Mervyn, who were accompanied by daughter, Mrs. Eddie Dunn, and three year old Stevie of Los Angeles.

Also rested after a vacation trip were Mr. and Mrs. Antone Burkhardt (Market Basket), who, following a pleasant motor trip to Washington and Oregon, found themselves enjoying the informality of Camp Curry, Yosemite. While there they met several friends including the Tom Marins of Daly City—She works almost next door in Bruce-Griffith!

Mrs. Frank Fedorka of 579 San Diego, returned recently from an extended visit in Hawaii, where her husband, a chief yeoman in the U. S. Navy, is stationed. Climaxing her return was her enterprising acquisition of the former Central Creamery, which she opened last week with many floral baskets and expressed good wishes of her many friends. The sparkling clean kitchen and appetizing smells, plus a reasonable and varied bill of fare, rates a high recommendation, and I add my best wishes, Mary, for the success you deserve.

ADD CELEBRITIES:

Local hardware merchant and sportsman, Jimmy Fox, did a fine job, commenting on a radio program which was aired from Oakland last Wednesday evening. Jimmy, who is prominent in the Associated Sportsman of California, is fast becoming a popular figure for his untiring efforts in behalf of better hunting and fishing. He speaks and writes authoritatively on the subject and follows through with amazingly good films he takes himself.

Monday night out own Ed Cereghino appeared on Television on the Armand Girard Show, and was presented with a cup, which should make quite a collection to date. In view of his interest in one charming Daly City lass, it is too bad these trophy's are not fashioned in the shape of something practical for the home, eh?

CRITICAL CIRCUMSTANCE:

The Fred Bertetta, en route to their Boulder Creek digs for an anticipated weekend sojourn, were very much saddened when their guest and brother-in-law, Kurt Gehrman, Cavour St., was seized with a heart attack and had to be taken to the hospital. Still on the critical list, he is improving, it is reported.

RESORT REPORT:

Mrs. James Kennedy and family have deserted our town for the summer surroundings of Russian River. Adjacent are the headquarters of the George Sweeneys, which make pleasant match-mates for canasta and golf.

ENGAGEMENT PARTY:

Joining ranks of the newly affianced were Louise Chessman and Ray Lagomarsino, Jr., whose betrothal was the occasion of a surprise shower, which was hosted by Mrs. Fred Lane and daughter Phyllis of 79 Willits St. Some 35 friends and family members presented the rather overwhelmed bride-elect with beautiful gifts and best wishes. She is the daughter of the William Chessmans. Refreshments were served from a buffet which was enhanced with floral decor and centered with a heart shaped cake, designating the troth of Louise and Ray.

Catching all eyes was the mantel tableau, of miniature dolls dressed and placed in the formation of a wedding party, which was the work of the benedict's talented mother, Mrs. Virginia Lagomarsino. Ray Jr. is presently stationed at Travis Air Field, in service with the U.S.A.F., and is the son of Ray Lagomarsino Sr., of Compton. The popular couple are tentatively planning an early fall wedding.

COMPLIMENTARY:

Several of the members of the Daly City Sportswomen's Club doubled as waitresses at the salmon dinner given for the Daly City Rod and Gun Club last Wednesday at the home of the Ed Mierdings in San Francisco. Mildred Whinnin, energetic President of this group has made arrangements for an outing this Sunday for a cruise on the bay for all members and their families, which should be rewarding to the "serving committee."

METROPOLIS:

Mr. and Mrs. George Freeland and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nestell at the cocktail hour at Skipper Kents. . .

The H. S. and H. C. Garrisons with Mr. and Mrs. J. Peters accompanied by the collective families, filling two rows at Winterland for the Ice Follies. . .

OVERHEARD IN POST OFFICE:

"No wonder it is so darn cold in Daly City, we have three Winters and no Summer! Ouch—He was right too, they are F. W. on San Diego St., George on Irvington, and Jack at 87th and Junipero Serra. Helping the situation a little were the plural Summers, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald, of Peoria St., which put this item on the optimistic side. . .

MOROCCO BOUND:

Of interest to her many friends here was the word received from Leona Denton, who left with her daughter and son-in-law for Tangiers, Morocco. Mrs. Denton, a former resident of Colma, is well known here and is a member of the Eagles Auxiliary No. 1848. She recounts many interesting circumstances of her new home, among them the camaraderie of the American groups, whose activities are merged for a potentially more satisfying way of life.

She speaks of the lush beauty of the tropical gardens and camellia trees two stories high, of narrow streets and barefooted women carrying unbelievable loads on their heads. The seven times of prayer observed by the Arabs, are proclaimed by the white flag which blows from a high tower, being supplanted at dusk with a light to beckon the devout. Since only one per cent of the population has a car, Mrs. Denton says the sound of an automobile horn on the crowded narrow streets immediately galvanizes the terrified natives toward the margins of the streets, which is quite a scene to observe. At present ensconced in a very nice hotel, she and her daughter are intent on establishing a home, and will no doubt avail themselves of native help, which is plentiful, she relates. Her anticipated excursions into the markets will be awaited with interest by all of us here, to whom the exotic flavor of the East, smacks of adventure and utter fascination.

The new water filtration and waste disposal system at the Ford Motor Company plant in Monroe, Mich., is capable of filling water requirements for a city of 40,000 population.

Visit your local Civil Defense organization today. There is a particular job in Civil Defense for you.

Women Plan Tour Of San Francisco Bay This Sunday; Shag Problem Noted

by Mrs. E. K. Whinnin
Brrrrrr—bring your sou'westers, girls, and something warm to wear underneath them—the Daly City Sportswomen's bay boat trip is definitely set for this coming Sunday, at 2:30 p.m. pier 43½, Fisherman's Wharf.

Sunny weather has been requested, but is not guaranteed. It is hoped there will be a good turn out, though to date no calls have come in requesting reservations. As you know, the club is paying for this trip for all members who are paid up in dues and social.

If you aren't paid up and want to go, get in touch with Mary Sullivan, JU. 4-1830, or Mildred Whinnin, JU. 4-6988, and arrange to pay your dues and social if you are more than one month behind, and join the merry party. Reservations will be made on Wednesday for 20, but the number may run over without causing any inconvenience. This is the first party sponsored and paid for by the Club so come out and get your money's worth. Hope to see you there on Sunday.

Date Set

A tentative date for the Lake Merced fishing trip was set for August 23, but there will be another meeting before then and the date may be changed at that time if the membership sees fit.

The legislative year is winding up for District 7. Jimmy Fox, on behalf of District No. 7, thanked Dud Lawrence, legislative representative, for the fine job he has done for the district. Mr. Lawrence has been really on the alert for restrictive or unfair bill, and has spent much time fighting such, and obtaining support for better bills. He has taken great care to explain them clearly to the delegates when asked to do so. The Daly City Sportswomen join District No. 7, in thanking Mr. Lawrence.

It has been mentioned before in these reports that a program to shoot the shag who feed upon the fish in Lake Merced has been undertaken. To give you an idea of the amount of fish these shag eat in a few hours here is an on the spot case given to District No. 7 by Warden Una at the last meeting. Warden Una saw the shag on one side of the lake catching fish, but because of children fishing near by it was impossible to shoot the shag. Then the bird moved to the other side and continued to fish. He was shot and when opened up, this is what was found. One small trout almost completely digested, another fair sized trout partially digested, and note this, another 13 inch trout that had just been swallowed.

One Shag

That was one shag in the matter of an hour or two. Bet some of our sportmen and women wish they had the fishing prowess of the shag.

It was also reported that $324 was donated by the school children of San Mateo County for penny pines to help reforest devastated areas. Each penny pays for a baby pine tree that is planted by the forest service to grow more trees in burnt over areas, and to hold the soil and water by such growth. The San Francisco Sportswomen sponsor this project.

Liquor Nine Whips Weststates Realty

After 11 sizzling innings of good, hard-fought baseball, Vince & Freds defeated Weststate Realty 3-2 in a pitching duel between the winner Bruno Della Libbre and the loser Keller of the Realty nine last Sunday at Funston.

Victory was costly for Vince & Freds; they lost the services of Bill Hoffman, 2nd baseman, who broke his foot sliding into base and Joe Grays, ss, who was injured while sliding into third base after smashing a triple in the 11th inning.

Gray's triple set up the winning run which was produced when Chris Mackrus hit safely to bring the tie-breaking and winning run home from third base.

Makrus with two hits and Grays with four hits accounted for two-thirds of their team's total number of hits.

Next Sunday Vince & Freds meet powerful San Quentin at 12 o'clock. The San Quentin team defeated Vince & Freds 5-2 in their last meeting after the Liquors had led the "rock pulverizers" 2-0 for seven innings.

MARCHBANK PARK

by Bucky Linhares

Saturday, July 14, all those who helped with the Skating Party were treated to a marshmallow toast. Everyone seemed to have a fine time singing songs and eating delicious burnt marshmallows.

Last Wednesday, Marchbank celebrated the arrival of its new pool table by having a pool tournament. The winner and champion of the park was Mike Sibitz. Those competing against him were Joe and Walter Sacchieri, Bill Fairchild, Danny, David and Cathy Rasmussen, Arlene Callen, Gerry Grunwald and many others.

Also on Wednesday a Surprise Day was held as a special treat for the week. So many turned out for this event that the games had to be shortened and some even cut out. Everyone really enjoyed themselves in such stunts as the peanut hunt, balloon duel, relays and a scavenger hunt. The points were totaled for each group and the team called the "Pigs" evolved the winner. Members of the "pig" team included Sue Scott, Eileen Newman, Bobby Scott, Gene Thompson, Art Glover and Virginia Newman.

On Wednesday, July 25, the kids from Marchbank left for Playland at the Beach where they attended a most successful skating party at Skateland.

On Friday of the same week, the annual Pet Show was held at Marchbank Park on the upper level. Everyone including man and beast agreed that the show was a whale of a success. Winners will be listed in this column next week.

Next week on Friday, August 3, a Doll Show will be held at each playground at 1:30. The next day, Saturday, a free baseball game will be given at Seals Stadium at 1:00 p.m. See the Park and Playground Directors for further details.

JEFFERSON HIGH

by L. Reese and Marge Erickson

The gymnasium at the high school resounded to the sound of boxing gloves all last week as the boys practiced for the big tournament on Friday night. (See article by Mr. Johnson for details of this event and results.) However, on Wednesday three big tournaments of another sort were held in the Game Room with several new champions emerging victorious. In Ping Pong Charles

LEADERS REPORT ON WEEK'S WORK

Also retained his senior boys title from a field which included Don Miller, Bud Dimond, George Rocci, Mike Woodbury, Richard Ross, Bob Crowley, and Dante Shelossi.

Pamela Hix scored an upset to win the girls ping pong title by defeating Donna Shulda in a hard fought final match. Fay Orvitz, Jonne Stevens, Yvonne Williford, Carol Sawyer and Joanne Meadow provided plenty of competition for the victor. The Chess Tournament was quickly won by a very talented player by the name of Bob Crowley. However, Don Miller, Jim Ferretti and Jim Rector showed promise for the future. The Checker Tournament attracted a large number of players with Earl McCune, Don Miller and Joan Mayer emerging as victors in their age classifications. Jim Ferretti, Joanne Meadows, Richard Ross, Jim Rector, Bud Dimond, John Gallagher and Van Stavern all participated in this lively contest.

The party at Skateland attracted a tremendous number of youngsters to ask for permission slips, indicating that this should be one of the best outings of the year. For once pets will not only be welcome but the center of attention this Friday at the Pet Show. All the dogs, cats etc., who try to sneak in to the Monday Movies will be on display at Marchbank Park, this will be their show. If you are in the neighborhood of Parkview Avenue and see what looks like a transplanted zoo, it will be the local animals on display and their proud owners looking for first place awards.

CROCKER PLAYGROUND

by Mrs. Holman

The Checker Tournament at the Crocker Playground proved to be very interesting with a lot of children participating. Whitty Heckman, 13 years old, who lives at 400 Crocker Ave., was crowned champion and Rosalie Abrahamson, a visitor to our playground from Los Angeles, came in second. Would anyone like to challenge us?

ARTS AND CRAFTS

by Regina Warchot

This week Mary and Emmet Lewis have been working very hard at Little Jeff. They have been making plastic scottie dog pins and painting statues. Mary has been doing more than her share of work. She is making key chains for all of her relatives and also for her five brothers. Barbara Matter is another girl who also seems to find something to get at Arts and Crafts for every member of her family, that is her two brothers and five sisters. Billy Wood at Parkview is the buyer for his whole Scout Club. He buys not only one bracelet but eight or more. It seems from this evidence that everyone enjoys working with the material furnished by Arts and Crafts.

Even the little children are aware of its value. For while buying statues up at Crocker, little Theresa Benito and Jimmy Sallas both remarked "Boy this is a bargain." It seems that all the children at all the playgrounds agreed with these two Crocker children. For where else can you buy and make present for your family, friends, relatives and pets for only a few pennies.

LINCOLN PLAYGROUND

by Don Wolf

A basketball game was played between Lincoln Playground and Brisbane. This was the first organized team game played by Lincoln this year. It was played Tuesday evening July 17. Lincoln, coached by Fred Thomson's eleven points, won 48-43. After Fred Thomson's high point total, the rest of Lincoln scored as follows: Ted Freeland, Larry Hutchinson and Joe Fischer scored 10 points each; Gene Lorenzo 4 and Bob Murchison 3 points. High point man for Brisbane was Larry Blanchard with 10 points.

The first ping pong tournament was held Wednesday July 19. This was an all playground contest between boys and girls. Jean Laskey won the tournament by beating Paulette Endres two out of three games.

Well the racing bug has hit Lincoln from two angles, bicycle and coaster. In the bicycle races there are two records waiting to be broken. The two records are: The group race, a five lap race against at least one other bicycle, and the individual race against time, also a five lap event.

Judy Liberti holds both records, the group race in 65 seconds and the individual race against time in 60.5 seconds. Nearest competitor to Judy in the individual race is Bob Gioni with a near record speed of 63.5 seconds.

The other race, coasters, has two classifications, heavy vehicles and light vehicles. In the light class, the team of Ken Gottwald and Walt McArdie in the Jet Mobile hold the record in 18.5 seconds. These two also hold the heavy vehicle record in 19.75 seconds. The team of Carl Langren and Frank Cordellos held the former heavy vehicle record in 21.25 seconds, but they were finally beaten Monday, July 23, by Ken and Walter.

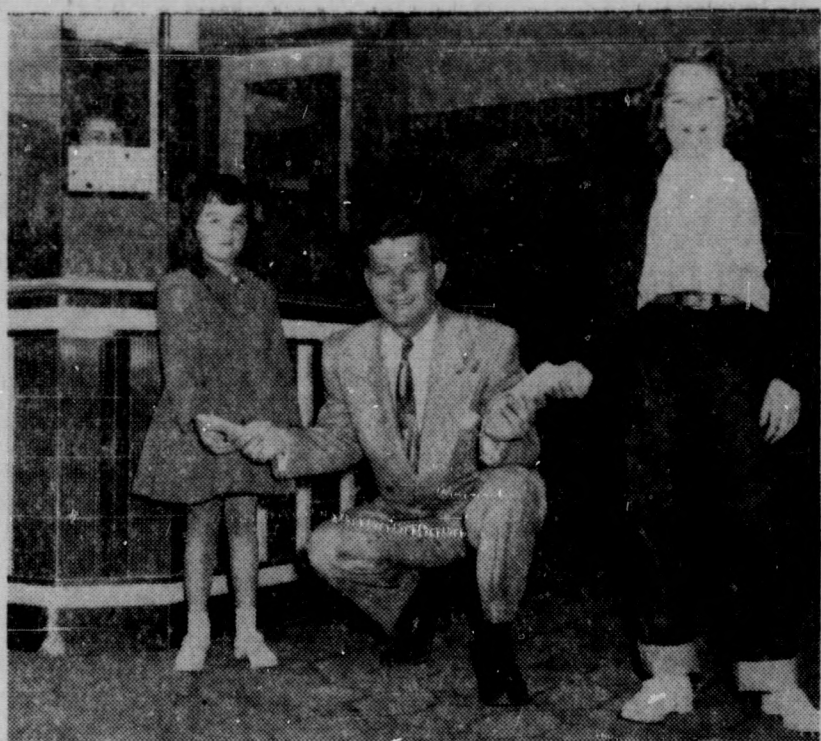

BOXING TOURNAMENT

A HUGE SUCCESS

The annual boxing show was another huge success this year. About 500 people were present to witness the youngsters go through their paces.

The show was climaxed by Frank Bria and Nick Hitchener in a special event. Frank, with the aid of a San Francisco Theatrical House of Makeup, came out as a terrible monster; enough to scare the stoutest of men. Nick came out as his usual self and after a vicious struggle succeeded in pinning the monster. Most of the people missed this special event since it came at the end of the program, but those who saw it enjoyed it.

The boxers were very good this year, as were the wrestlers. The names of the winners will be listed below. We in the Recreation Department want to thank those men who helped officiate. . . . Dr. Mudrich we send our appreciation, fortunately he didn't have any patients. . . . to Mel Battye and Roland Petrocchi, the judges, we say

Cub Pack 62 Gives Picnic At Redwood City

Characterized by an almost 100 per cent turnout, members of Cub Pack No. 62 of the General Pershing school and their families gathered for a picnic at Flood Park in Redwood City, Sunday.

One of the features of the happy event was a baseball game between teams captained by George Gensel and Sabin Eastman with the former team winning 14 to 13.

The men's race was won by Jack Berlin while winning in the women's race was Mrs. Aileen Blanton. A wiener roast in the evening climaxed the day's activities.

Members of the Cub Pack wish to thank all those who helped in making this outing such an enjoyable one.
